TIME IS ON OUR SIDE . . .

1976 may not stand out in our minds as the Bicentennial year. It will be many memories to the many persons we are, and have become, and hope to be. Whatever it was, 1976 was a part of our lives: a fleeting moment in the short time each of us has.

Captured are the short and long, hectic and serene ways in which we learned to spend our seconds, minutes and hours in the CELEBRATION OF TIME.

FOR NOW.

TIME stands still for no one;
it moves faster than the swiftest stream.

We are in continual motion,
progress
CHANGE.

For many of us,
time is the future.

For some of us,
time is the past.

WE NEVER KNOW
AHEAD.

Some of us have a lot of time, others just a little.

I have no yesterdays,
Time took them away;
Tomorrow may not be —
but I have today.
— Pearl Yeadon McGinnis

whatever time we have, let us live it . . .

Just for today, I will be happy. This assumes what Abraham Lincoln said, that "most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be."

— Kenneth L. Holmes

AND CELEBRATE!

Tomorrow is a new day,
begin it well . . . and with too high a spirit
to be cumbered with your old nonsense.

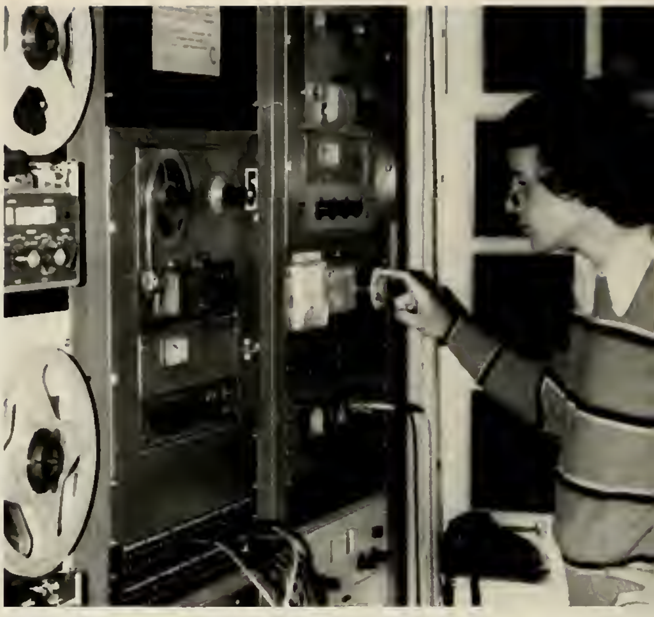
— Ralph Waldo Emerson

We are given so much.

We live but once. The years of childhood, when once past, are past forever.

— Talmage

We have so much to give.

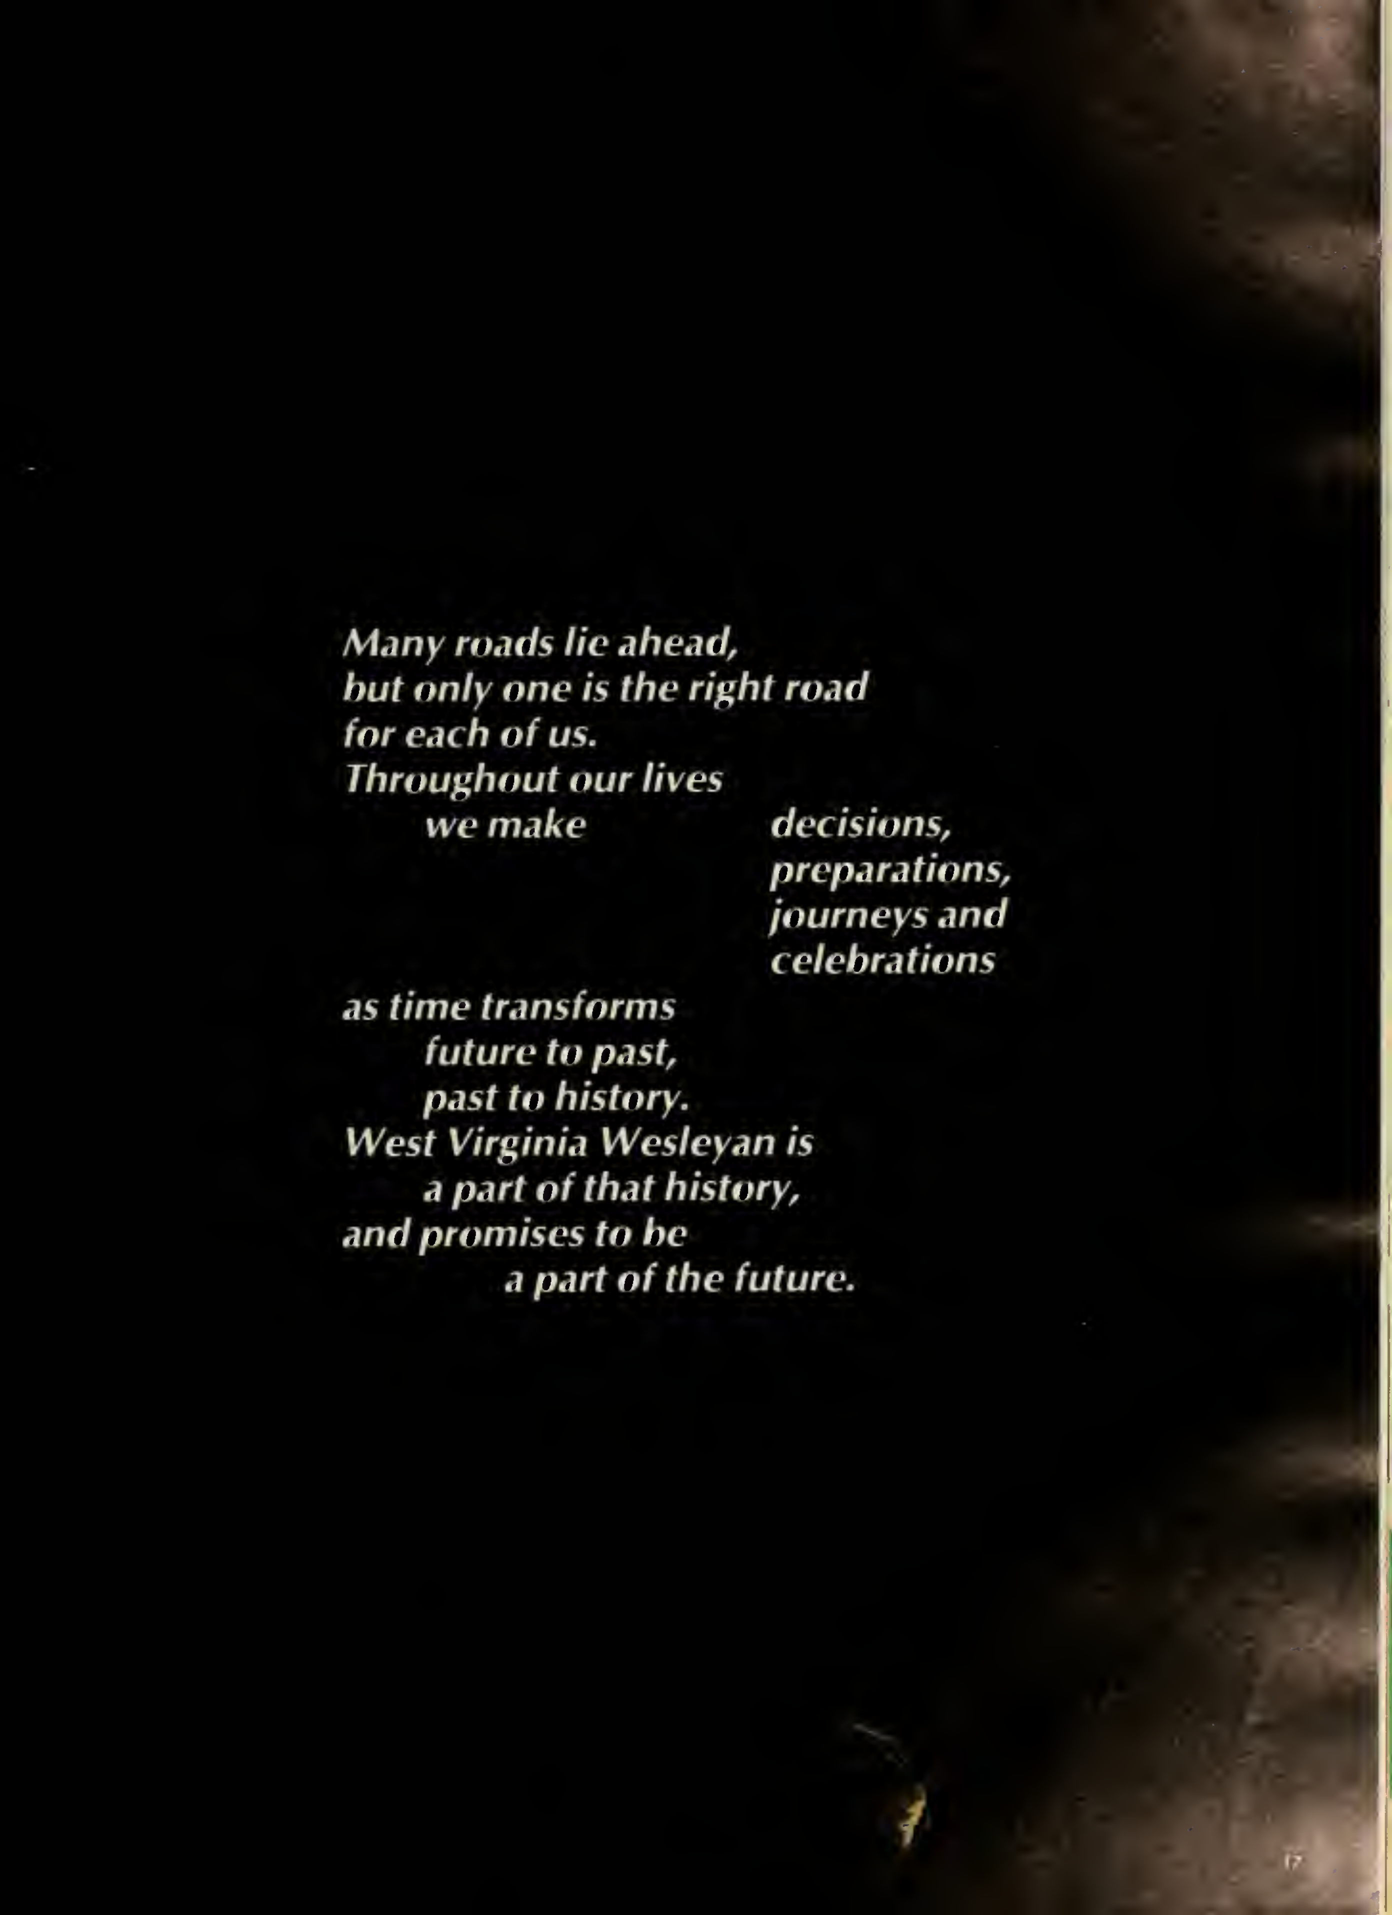


Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff, life is made of. — Ben Franklin

We can learn how to use our time and talents.

We can even ask others for help, but in the end . . .

Time! the corrector where our judgments err; the test of truth, and love; the sole philosopher . . . — Byron



Many roads lie ahead,
but only one is the right road
for each of us.
Throughout our lives
we make decisions,
preparations, journeys and celebrations

as time transforms future to past,
past to history.
West Virginia Wesleyan is a part of that history, and promises to be a part of the future.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

As Freshman Orientation is, for many new students, their first glance at Wesleyan and taste of college life, these relatively short periods must be well-planned and executed. The three 1975 pre-fall sessions gave freshmen and transfers the opportunity to become acquainted with professors and advisers, schedule classes and meet classmates. Acclamating oneself to a new territory may be frightening to many; Wesleyan's orientations include both parents and students in separate and shared activities.

Judges Select Riffle MURMURMONTIS queen

WESLEYAN
CHEERLEADERS

Homecoming 1975 meant a time of excitement for all: for the very young, the parade and gaily-costumed participants; for the not-so young, a lawn picnic, visits and recollections with long-ago friends, a glimpse of a quickly-changing institution that somehow retains a great deal of the past; for the older young people or the younger old people, a Blood, Sweat and Tears concert, the Homecoming dance, the crowning of the queen, float competition, and perhaps most important of all, PARTIES.

CHRISTMAS . . .

HANGING OF THE GREENS draws the college community together as the Christmas season rush approaches. Celebrating in the Chapel with the symbolic greens and ornaments, choral and handbell music, organ prelude and postlude on the Shannon bells, liturgical dance and Christmas story readings, the community joined in singing traditional Christmas carols and lighting the Advent candles. Moving to the enormous, decorated and lighted evergreen in front of the library, the group lighted tapers; speakers from varied concerns of the campus, including foreign students, spoke. Further celebration through the singing of Christmas carols was accompanied by a brass ensemble.

OPPOSITE, TOP: Don Gardner directs the Tour Choir Chorale in a traditional number. OPPOSITE, BOTTOM LEFT: Assorted community members attach the Greens decorations while Rev. Mr. Daniel Bryan, Associate Pastor of First United Methodist Church in Buckhannon, narrates the symbolism associated with the Greens. OPPOSITE, BOTTOM RIGHT: The congregation and service participants share in the "Act of Fellowship" near the end of the Chapel service. TOP: Encircling the Christmas tree outdoors, the celebrants bond together in caroling. BOTTOM LEFT: The Christmas tree glistens in the night as it reaches toward the darkened sky. BOTTOM RIGHT: Ky Vu (LEFT) speaks to the joyous group, as Community Council President Matt Foreman and Jim Huddleston prepare to address the Christmas crowd.

SPRING WEEKEND

Although the turnout to TAVARAS was small, those who attended enjoyed the Spring concert.

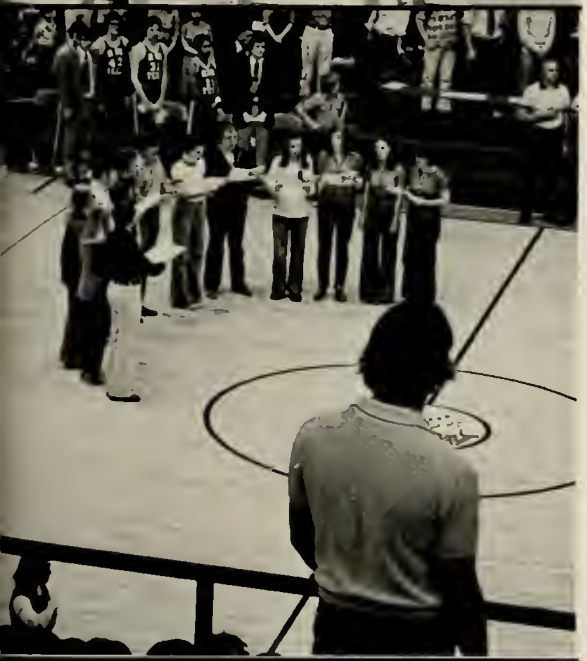
ORGANIZATIONS ORGANIZATIONS ORGANIZATIO



Staff creativity:

what you see is what you get

Working in an all-out effort, the staff of the 1976 MURMURMONTIS organized the QUEEN contest in November. Decorations, programs and other necessities were handled efficiently by various individuals.

Spring deadline time, however, left much copy to be written and few interested persons left to write it. As the day of doom drew nearer, a small staff of ruggedly persevering journalists was left — those who were either brave or stupid . . .

The deadlines, nevertheless, were all successfully met; all survived.

"Published weekly by the students of West Virginia Wesleyan College," the PHAROS masthead reads. In living up to its lighthouse symbolism, the newspaper staff spent its time discovering the news of campus and town, attempting to present diverse views, and relating its gathered information to the reading public. 1976 also saw the publication of a literary issue featuring various forms and styles, artwork, and photography.

TOP: Associate Editors John Allevato and Bev Remley listen in disbelief to Editor Phil Loftis (CENTER) as he relates what he thinks is his discovery of the pencil in his words, "a writing implement a step beyond the typewriter." BOTTOM Adjusting to an atmosphere somewhat lighter than his usual darkroom habitat, photographer Jack Berry reclines in his basement dorm room.

Community Council

Community Council boasted, or at least admitted to having three presidents during t year. Matt Foreman served from March through the fall semester 1975, with Ken Ward filling the position during Free Term. Ward's January graduation subsequently resulted in the presidential responsibilities shifting to Sue Pherson. Major council concerns encompassed judicial system reforms, hotly-argued SPIRG funding debates, control of book prices, and added student involvement in administrative levels.

WVIAC title evades soccer tea

The Bobcat soccer program under Coach George Klebe completed another successful season by compiling an 8-4 mark. The Cats defeated major colleges such as William and Mary and Ohio University, but were felled by traditional rivals Alderson-Broaddus and Davis and Elkins. For the Cats, it was an injury plagued season as superstar Kurt Mohns was hampered throughout the year. It was Mohns' final season in a Wesleyan uniform along with the school's all time leading scorer Ron Steel and assist man Jim Stevenson. Marty Johnson had another fine year, as well as Fred Vitollo and Bemba Balsirow. With eight starters returning for another year of action, the Cats' soccer fortunes again appear to be promising.

Wesleyan's gridiron program began to show signs of life after ten years of hibernation. The Cats, under third year mentor Kent Carpenter, won five of their last six contests to post a 5-5 record, the best mark for a Wesleyan football squad since 1966. For a while, it looked as though the Bobcats would have their typical season, as they lost their first four contests. However the Cats turned it around with a hard fought 6-2 victory over West Virginia Tech and a thrilling come from behind upset over Glenville in overtime. Salem's Jack Deloplaine then ran and darted for four touchdowns to spoil the Orange and Black's homecoming. However, the Cats rebounded with a last second win over Waynesburg, and crushing victories over Bluefield State and Geneva. It was a great season for individuals such as 1000 yard gainer Steve Vannoy and defensive stalworths Barry Myers, Fred Moomau, and Junior Dimperio. Thus, Wesleyan's football season brought new life into the troubled program and gave rise to optimism for the seasons to come.

Wesleyan's field hockey program went from a doormat to a state powerhouse in one season. The squa under Coach Caroline Hornor, went winless in 1974, but emerged with a 2 record and a second place finish in the state of West Virginia in 1975. I fact with the success of the team, came a campus awareness of the gam of field hockey itself. Lauren Eister led the team in scoring with Nancy Kommer close behind her. Goalie Monica Paoline had a good year as well as English Maryta Pankiewicz, Laura Evans, Heidi Heydemann, Bonnie Mathews, Pam Jessen, Sue Gorman, and Laura Meyer.

Operating as a club rather than an organized campus team, the Rugby squads ventured far from the home field to meet such teams as Frostburg, Indiana, West Virginia University and University of Pittsburgh, bringing a #1 spot in the California Invitational. Despite severe losses and near-critical and repeated injuries, the club members repaired and finished both Fall and Spring seasons favorably.

Water 'Cats take state third

The women's swimming squad under coach Caroline Hornor finished third in the state behind West Virginia University and Shepherd. Jane McConnell, Karen Boyd, Debbie Hamlin, Sue Wilson and Lou Ann Bailey all had good seasons, but a lack of depth kept the team from achieving higher goals. Other team members include Diane Grubb, Marilyn Poling, Mary Lee Lewis, and Linda Van Fleet.

The Bobcat's roundball season was again a successful one as the Orange and Black posted a 14-11 record. Wesleyan again fell to the likes of Fairmont State, and conference powers such as Wheeling and West Virginia Tech. The Cats began the season by capturing the Lewis County Shrine Tournament, then made a respectable showing in Pittsburgh by losing to the Pitt Panthers 70-61. Coach Gary Hess' squad stayed around the .500 mark until the latter part of January, then ran off a six game winning streak. Wesleyan finished the regular season with a 14-10 mark and headed toward Charleston with dreams of being the cinderella team in the WVIAC Tournament. However, arch rival Alderson-Broaddus, a tough opponent all season long, upset the Cats in the opening round. Thus Wesleyan suffered its fifth consecutive opening round loss in the annual tournament. The Bobcats received good seasons from juniors Glenn Pietras and Jerry Gatewood, sophomores Bill Thomas and Don Filip, and freshmen Mark Davis and Kenny Hayes, thus giving the Orange and Black a strong nucleus for next year.

The Wesleyan Women's Track Club began its first season and were led by Athletic Director Sam Ross. The Bobcats defeated just about every team they faced by very large margins, with only one second place finish in the Marshall Invitational. In the West Virginia AAU Meet held in Morgantown, Wesleyan scored 114½ points to easily outdistance Marshall, West Virginia University, Fairmont State, and Morris Harvey, for the championship. Leading the way for the Orange and Black were Maryta Pankiewicz, Zoe Gingerich, Pam Jessen, and Debbie Kemo in the mile relay, Gingerich in the hurdles, Kathy Oldaker, Jan Sandridge, and Lynelle Lewis in the sprints, Jill Bergmann in the discus, and Debbie Hall, Laverne Shields, Cathy Murren, and Kathy Naylor in the distance events. Other members included Karen Ensor, Debbie MacWilliams, Barb Woodford, Bridgette LeFontaine, Diane Little, Cookie Holyfield, Mary Ann Sisler, and Barb Salter.

Women's basketball team has improved season

The women's basketball squad improved to a 6-10 record in its second year of intercollegiate competition. The Caroline Hornor coached team began the season with a crushing victory over Marietta, Ohio and ended the year with a disappointing performance in the state tournament. The predominantly freshman oriented squad, was led by guard Trina Ayoob, center Karen Frank, and forward Nancy Kommer. Cathy Fast and Bonnie Mathews also had strong performances thus giving Wesleyan plenty of experience for next year. Highlights of the season included upsets over Salem and Concord, and wins over Fairmont State and Glenville State.

Men's Tennis Team takes conference third

The Wesleyan Tennis Team showed improvement over the course of the season and finally finished third in the conference. The Cats began the spring slowly, losing two of the first three matches, but then rallied for a final season record of 10-4. Freshman Zack Bator and sophomore Ed Kroupa were selected to the all-conference team as a result of winning the second doubles title. Friday Nwoku finished second as the number six singles player on the Frank Sworden coached team, while other strong performances were turned in by Andy Thomas, Chris Comegys, Rusty Manley and Steve Moore.

The Wesleyan baseball team finished with a 14-8 overall record, and an 11-5 conference slate. The Bobcats led the conference most of the season, but lost a doubleheader to West Liberty, the eventual conference champion. The squad, under Hank Ellis and Vic Cegles, was an exciting team to watch the entire season. This was exemplified by a doubleheader sweep over Fairmont State. The Cats defeated the Falcons in the first game 8-7 in ten innings, and then rallied from a 10-2 deficit by scoring six runs in the bottom of the seventh for a 13-12 victory. Second baseman Randy Tenney had an outstanding season, but had strong support from Jim Gross, Larry Bennett, Dennis Slagle, and Mike Price. Greg Lavin led the mound corps in earned run average, while Mike Lafferty led the team in victories with six.

Golfers swing through season

The Orange and Black golf team, under the coaching of John Myers, had a good season finishing third in the WVIAC. The Bobcats were consistent throughout most of the season, finishing in the top three in every tournament. Sophomore Tim Olsen and freshman Jay Robinson were selected to the all-conference team for their efforts. Seniors Les Lockhart and Larry Milosh also played well along with junior Tim Rollins.

The Cats found third places in the following matches: Southern Regional, Marshall Invitational, Northern Regional and WVIAC Tournament. They took second-place honors in the Central Regional and Davis and Elkins competitions.

The Bobcat track program had another outstanding season, finishing second in the conference for the second consecutive season. The Cats, under Coach Bob Braine, also traveled south and impressively defeated such good track teams as Lynchburg Va., High Point, N.C., and Guilford, N.C. Injuries kept the squad from achieving a conference crown as such standouts a Bill Hoffer and Greg Hendrickson ailed the entire season. However hurdler Frank Hedderich, high jumper Pete Merck weightman George Nolte, and distance performer Gerald Murphy helped pick up the slack. Despite all the adversity, the Cats never gave up, and showed the kind of class all coaches dream of having on a team

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Actions speak louder than words

Capitan carries college

Doing more than merely treading water in his position as Acting President, Dr. William H. Capitan's temporary administration resulted in progress as well as order. During his term of office, the Long-Range Planning Committee was, after a relatively long fallow period, reinstituted. AIDP was organized and developed. And life went on at Wesleyan as usual, with a few mistakes and misconceptions here and there.

Capitan was also serving as Vice-President of Academic Affairs during his presidency, maintaining the college academically as well as administratively.

Health personnel provide services

Amid the usual student complaints — some warranted, others ungrounded — Wesleyan's Health Center continued to tend the ills and chills of students. In relatively new facilities, found in the Physical Education and Health Complex dedicated in March 1976, the health personnel made use of increased equipment and aids in treating students.

Immortality to Jay: "Long live the king"

Complete with television coverage, the Wesleyan community celebrated the dedication of the John D. Rockefeller IV Physical Education Center March 18, 1976 amidst speakers, visitors and Tour Choir's magnificent (as usual) performance of "My Home Among the Hills."

The largest single contributor to the Physical Education Center completion fund, Jay donated $250,000. Besides the impressive mounted name adorning the gym's exterior, the facility echoes his name by living up to its nickname "Jay's gym" through use in intramural as well as intercollegiate competition.

For those of us who were the community during Jay's short administration, the gym is a constant reminder of the JDRIV era and serves as a ghost of days past. For those of us who came later, the gym is a serving and material proof of his beneficence.

Trustees tackle college problems

Searching for a president was probably the main concern of most trustees. Other items arose, however, including approval of the budget, collection of campus organization fees, and dormitory maintenance.

A budget of $7.52 million for 1976-77 was approved by the Board of Trustees, including an increase of 9.4% or $647,000.

Sleeth was chosen; motion was passed to consider using housing income to repair bathrooms, hallways, lounges, roofs, rooms (the list is endless) in dormitories.

By wiping out the college's action as a collection agency for campus organizations, the trustees reduced SPIRG to volunteer funding, in effect killing the supposedly "politically affiliated" group.

Hugh A. (Hal) Latimer presided over the 1975-76 Board of Trustees, which numbers 42, seventeen of whom were absent from the March 18-19 meeting.

Dr. Ronald E. Sleeth

Search secures Sleeth

After considering a number of possibilities for the position, the Presidential Search Committee unanimously selected Dr. Ronald E. Sleeth as its recommendation for President of West Virginia Wesleyan College to the Board of Trustees.

The nine-month search brought several candidates to campus for faculty and student observation and questioning; many others were ruled out in initial inquest.

A Tribute to Our Founders

The Christian ideals and aims set forth by the founders of West Virginia Wesleyan College in 1890 have inspired men and women for two generations to give their talents and means for the development of our college. We honor the founders of West Virginia Wesleyan College.

It is fitting that we renew our responsibility to the founders of our college and that we continue to carry on the ideals and aims in the present era of major social transitions. We shall need courage with humility for the task. Nevertheless we have faith that the creative intelligence with Christian compassion of students, faculty, administration, alumni, and trustees of West Virginia Wesleyan College will be able to develop contemporary guidelines appropriate for the basic ideals and aims of our college.

Despite student and campus pressure to produce, CCPB disappointed many students with Walt Disney at Christmas and Tavares during Spring Weekend. Yet what some students severely criticized, others applauded.

Some work was evident among the results of campus programming; much student apathy was apparent in attendance; little long-range efforts of CCPB were manifest.

Time: A passage of seasons

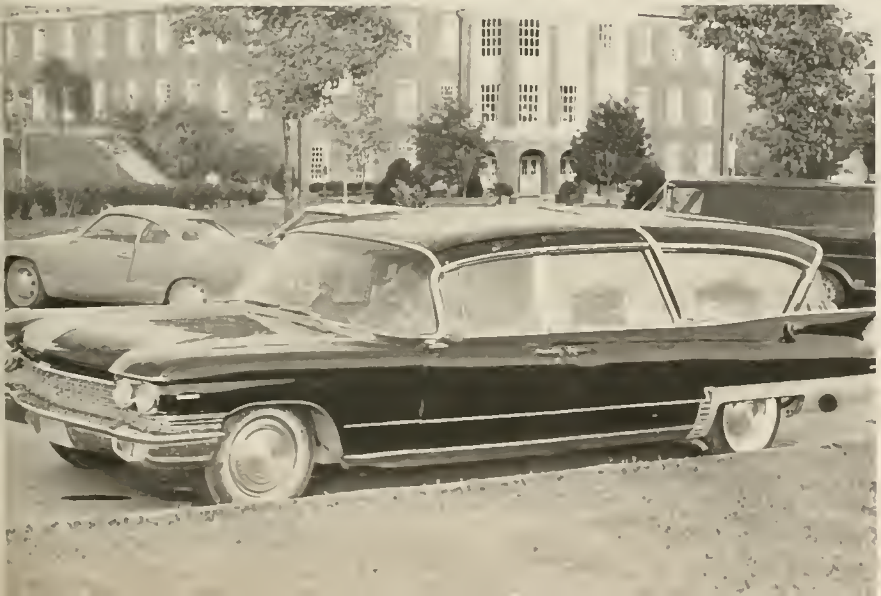
Governed by the laws of nature, the passage of time can be seen by the changing seasons. Life at Wesleyan is influenced by these seasonal changes, each season creating its own mood and unique atmosphere among the campus community. Through the year, students participate in the CELEBRATION OF TIME. Fall denotes the return to campus, the reuniting of old friends, the discovery of new friends. Homecoming brings back old memories while all enjoy West Virginia's autumnal glory. With the falling snowflake, winter converts Wesleyan into a winter wonderland. Students and faculty celebrate the approaching Christmas season, students enjoy the liberties Free Term affords. The bobbing robins herald the approach of spring; an aura of celebration is in the air. The Audra road becomes traveled again, cutoffs appear, seniors long for graduation, lovers love more intensely, the campus trees burst forth from winter's sleep into various hues of green. Summer comes: a new beginning for the seniors, a vacation period for the undergraduates, a lazy, peaceful interlude before the start of another year. Life at Wesleyan — another cycle in the CELEBRATION OF TIME.

At times a transient campus, Wesleyan Students can be seen making weekend exits from the mountains in a variety of mechanical devices. Motorcycles, vans, cars of every color, model, and vintage carry students to points all over the map. For on campus and short, local jaunts, feet, unicycles, and skateboards provide the means and the wheels. Triumphs and other sports cars can be seen and heard cruising in front of Aggie, Benedum, and Holloway. The local hearse has risen many "whys," and the skateboard enthusiasts have earned the respect and awe of many.

Kerry Thorn pedals his way around Wesleyan's peaceful avenues.

"We'll get there, one way or other . . .!"

Phil Trout has mastered the art of surfing on land.



Be it in the sleekness of a Porsche, on the scenic shoe leather express, or in the macabre hilarity of an unconverted hearse, Wesleyan students do manage to get where they want to go.

Dorm life is . . .

Providing an opportunity to meet new people and to be exposed to different and diverse ideas, dorm life can be considered to be an unique experience. Benedum residents began their second year as a self-governed dorm. Apathy was prevalent during the majority of the year; however a surge of resident interest secured 24 hour visitation in Benedum's lounge and TV room. Dorm resident assistants planned many in-dorm activities including speeches, films, demonstrations, and parties. These activities helped to bring dorm residents closer together and helped to make life a little more interesting.

Electing to live off campus, many Wesleyan students give up the convenience of prepared meals and easy access to the main campus for home cooking, house keeping chores, and, for the most part, a quieter environment. Ranging from rooms in private homes, two bedroom apartments and trailers, most students are very happy with their off-campus living experience.

Wesleyan students find many different things to occupy their time when they are not studying. Activities are planned by various campus organizations or created and discovered by the students themselves. Favorite pastimes include playing frisbee, going to the End Of The Line on Wednesday evenings, going to Audra, socializing at the top of the SCOW, reading, playing the piano, or just doing one's own thing, whatever it may be. Student participation was most rewarding in the Red Cross blood drive while student involvement in the superstar contest made it the hilarious event that it was.

People, friends, lovers . . .

West Virginia Wesleyan College is more than buildings and books, it is a community composed of people. When people are thrown together friendships are formed; some superficial, others deep and lasting. Friendship sometimes turns to love; that too can be superficial or transient, sincere or permanent. If one desires, to seek and find, he will garner much more from Wesleyan than just classroom knowledge.

A letter from home . . .

When the "hungries" hit, the Wesleyan student finds himself faced with many possibilities. If one's stomach is found creating disturbances during the 11:15 and 3:25 classes, Saga is the immediate remedy. For hunger pains at other diverse times or for a case of the Saga Blues, the Pizza Hut, Big T, Stardust, Jesse's, Steak House, and the Dairy Queen provide quick, cheap, and satisfying relief of a most dire problem. Jesse's and the Campua Pizza's late night delivery service has proved to be a major asset for the frustrations caused by finals and studying.

The foreign students on Wesleyan's campus make it a small world indeed. Here for many reasons, these students add much to the campus community. Some students plan to remain in the United States after their education is complete, while others plan to return to their native country. Ky Vu, a Viet Nam refugee, has found a home in his adoptive Wesleyan. Struggling to adjust, Ky has found Wesleyan to be helpful and for the most part, understanding. Maryta Pankiewiez, hailing from Essex, England has been terribly involved in campus events ranging from track, mistress of ceremonies at Spring Sing, to being a reporter on the Pharos. Many cultures and countries are found on the Wesleyan campus. This was displayed during the foreign student exhibit first semester. Coordinating group activities and helping with the everyday problems of living in a foreign country is the group's advisor, Dr. Judy Siewert.

What'er the theme, the maiden sang
As if her song could have no ending;
I saw her singing at her work,
And o'er the sickle bending;
I listened, motionless and still;
And, as I mounted up the hill
The music in my heart I bore,
Long after it was heard no more.
— William Wordsworth, "The Solitary Reaper"

Loann Burwinkel
Freshman Class of 1975-76

The following poem was written in memory of Debbie Daub, fondly known as "Dauber" or just as "Daub." Debbie pledged the Spring of 1975 and fulfilled a long-awaited dream — to become an Alpha Xi. Written by Cheryl Frankeberger:

I entered your world a few years back
When life was intense with no room for slack.

I entered the Dauber world of sunshine and smiles
Where ideals still existed untouched or defiled.

Here, friendship thrived on give and take
And love grew for its own sake.

I entered this world cautious at first
Taught by experience that summer friends don't last.

You entered this world a few months back
Forming a special bond only true sisters have known.

You feasted on sisterhood as though there was no tomorrow
Savoring each moment to hide all your sorrow.

Our worlds melted together producing a wonderful, bubble-filled world of milky way bars, Cokes and Kentucky Friend-times, of limitations and cigarettes, and late night talks.

Yes, those talks — our dreams of Hawaii, Roommating and . .
and then.

God took you last night when I was fast asleep
Miles away and unable to keep my protective hand stretched toward yours
To shelter and guide you whene'er you felt need.

The bubble burst, little sis, and the world seems cruel,
But can you blame God for wanting the Dauberworld too?

Weep no more, Woeful shepherds, weep
no more,
For Lycidas, your sorrow, is not dead,
Sunk though he be beneath the watery floor;
So sinks the day-star in the ocean bed,
And yet anon repairs his drooping head,
And tricks his beams, and with new-spangled one,
Flames in the forehead of the morning sky·
So Lycidas sunk low, but mounted high,
Through the dear might of him that walked the waves,
Where, other groves and other streams along,
With nectar pure his oozy locks he laves,
And hears the unexpressive nuptial song,
In the blest kingdom meek of joy and love.
Now Lycidas, the shepherds weep no more;
Henceforth thou art the Genius of the shore,
In thy large recompense, and shalt be good
To all that wander in that perilous flood.

— John Milton, "Lycidas"

. . YEARS HAVE PASSED . . .
AND AGAIN I HEAR
THESE WATERS, ROLLING FROM THEIR MOUNTAIN SPRINGS WITH A SOFT INLAND MURMUR.
— WILLIAM WORDSWORTH
"LINES COMPOSED A FEW MILES ABOVE TINTERN ABBEY"

Of these, said I, shall be my song; of these,
If future years mature me for the task,
Will I record the praises, making verse
Deal boldly with substantial things; in truth
And sanctity of passion, speak of these,
That justice may be done, obeisance paid
Where it is due; thus haply shall I teach,
Inspire; through unadulterated ears
Pour rapture, tenderness, and hope, my theme
No other than the very heart of man,
As found among the best of those who live —
Not unexalted by religious faith,
Nor uninformed by books, good books, though few —
In Nature's presence; thence may I select Sorrow, that is not sorrow, but delight;
And miserable love, that is not pain
To hear of, for the glory that redounds
Therefrom to human kind, and what we are . . .
— William Wordsworth, THE PRELUDE

"The time has come," the walrus said,
"To talk of many things." "The time has come, the time has come, the time has come, the time has come, the time has come, the time has come, the time s
